

Elisabeth Laurence
SF Style and Beauty Examiner
April 16, 7:14 AM

Glam giving at the Gettys

Pamela Deikel and her grandchild

Totals are in for the “Snuggly Soiree” where Socials supported hospitalized children and their families at the Getty manse last month.

Around $200,000 was raised for charity as Ann and Gordon Getty played hosts to dermatologist Dr. Richard Glogau and his wife, Dr. Pam Baj Glogau—a professor of nursing at San Francisco and over 350 guests. It was the 10th annual fundraising event for the Glogau Teddy Bear Rescue Fund.

Guests arrived in style—from young toddlers to adults to each to enjoy a festive childhood fantasy evening.

Among the chic attendees were Dede Wilsey, Chair of the campaign to raise $1.5 million for UCSF’s new Mission Bay complex that will include a Children’s Hospital, Women’s Hospital and Cancer Center, Mayor Gavin Newsom and wife Jennifer Siebel Newsom, Lori Puccinelli Stern and her two children, ever soignée Pamela Deikel and her granddaughter. Two-time Olympic beach volleyball gold medalist Kerri Walsh gave an uplifting talk.

Also in attendance was Dr. Alan Malouf, sartorially splendid—as only the best-dressed man in San Francisco can be and Beth Townsend, Ann Getty’s niece.

The evening was a delightful medley of playtime for children, with “Make a Teddy Bear” stations, face painting and games, and presentations for adults by UCSF CEO Mark Laret and Children’s Hospital CEO Roxanne Fernandes. Live 101.5’s Don Bleu served as Master of Ceremonies.

The most important moment arrived when Dr. Glogau affixed a Teddy Bear cutout to a board with his donation, and many others followed.

The Glogau Teddy Bear Rescue Fund provides everything from gas cards, lodging stipends, food allowances and even cribs and blankets for families-in-need whose children are hospitalized at UCSF Children’s Hospital.

The Glogau’s established the Teddy Bear Rescue Fund when their own child was hospitalized at UCSF for orthopedic surgery and they saw other families with sick children at UCSF who needed help..

UCSF Children’s Hospital does not charge for treatment for children whose parents cannot afford medical care.

Money from the Glogau Teddy Bear Fund goes directly to the hospital.

For more information or to make a donation, go to ucsf.org, and type "Glogau Teddy Bear Rescue Fund" in the search box.