Dear Fans,

It's been a while since my last update, so I'll fill you in on what I've been up to lately.

Over the past couple of years, I have been involved with the UCSF Children's Hospital in San Francisco. One of the nation's top facilities, UCSF Children's Hospital is a leader in the treatment of childhood cancer as well as kidney and liver transplants. They attend to many underserved children throughout Northern California and beyond.

In March, I attended the annual "Snuggly Soiree" event at the Getty Mansion which raises money for the Teddy Bear Rescue Fund. The fund helps fill special needs, such as food, transportation, housing, medication, tutors and amenities that insurance and government funds cannot provide. Currently, we are raising money to update and upgrade the children's playroom at the hospital. It is important for these kids to have a safe and comfortable place to play and just be kids.

I do want to thank all of my fans and the people I see around town, at social events or at various basketball games. Your continued support and kind words really do mean a lot to me.

Other than that, I've been hanging out with my family and staying in shape.

Until next time,

Barry Bonds
